SHOTS BREAK UP DANCE

Stampede Follows Firing of Three Shots In Odd Fellows' Hall, Colored.

ONE MAN IS HURT

Three Washington Negroes Charged With Being Disorderly, Arrested and Fined $100 Each.

A dance given at colored Odd Fellows' Hall on South Columbus street was brought to an abrupt termination at 11 o'clock last night when someone fired three pistol shots in rapid succession when the hall was packed with men and women. There was a stampede on the part of the dancers for places of safety. Many jumped through windows and others pushed pell mell to the street.

The police arrived in short order in the patrol wagon. James Shorter, colored, who said he was from Washington, was knocked out with either a stone or blackjack and he was taken to the hospital. The injuries were to his forehead.

The police took in custody Robert Shorter, James and Harry Johnson. They were fined $100 each in the police court today, althougph all three denied being implicated in any disorder.

According to the testimony brought out at the hearing the dance was proggressing satisfactorily until about twenty colored men and women from Georgetown arrived in an automobile truck. Some of these who were without tickets were denied admission to the hall. It was testified one of the crowd said: "We are from Georgetown's bloody field," and want admittance. The doorkeeper was assaulted and in the melee that followed the shots were fired. The affair caused considerable excitement. All of the Washingtonions hastily returned in the automobile truck except the three apprehended. Who fired the shots is not known. The police, however, have been furnished with the names of a Washington colored man who is alleged to have been the ringleader and the Washingtgon authorities have been requested to apprehend him.

Held For Burglary

Cases of Two Colored Boys Referred To Grand Jury.

Following a preliminary hearing the police court today, Francis Lee Jackson and James Lucas, small colored boys about 12 years old each, charged with breaking to into the store of Allen Brothers, northwest corner of King and Payne streets, last Sunday afternoon and doing damage estimated at $500 were held for the action of the grand jury.

A youth named George Anderson told the court he saw two small colored boys in the store and when they saw him they threw bananas against the window.

Both lads denied entering the store, although young Jackson admitted to the court that others were in the place and he waited outside of the store. The Jackson boy also was charged with the theft of a bicycle which was received from the garage in the rear of the residence of Frederick, Ayers, 912 King street.

A number of local men compose the organization committee, who hope to open th bank by Octobr 1.

MISS MARY LLOYD DEAD

One of Alexandria's Oldest Residents Succumbs In Washington.

Miss Mary Lee Lloyd, a resident of this city, died last night at the residence of Mrs. M. Crenshaw, 1422 Massachusetts avenue, northwest, Washington. The deceased had been in failing health for a long time due to the infirmities incident to her advanced age. Miss Lloyd was 88-years old and a daughter of the late John and Ann H. Lloyd. For many years she lived at the southwest corner of Washington and Queen streets and was one of Alexandria's oldest and best known residents. About three years ago the deceased moved to Washington where she had since resided.

Her funeral will take place at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the residence of Mrs. Crenshaw and services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. W. J. Morton, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, of this city and burial will be in Christ Church cemetery, this city.

Back From Convention

Delegates Who Attended Sunday School Convention In Norfolk Home.

The Alexandria Sunday school delegation of young people that attended the fourth state conference at Norfolk last week returned home this morning on the Southland. The delegation consisted of Misses Corrinne Reardon and Eddie Dickert, of the M. E., South, Sunday school, and Miss Mildred Lloyd, of the Second Baptist school, and W. E. Wallace of the Y. M. C. A.

Alexandria has not been represented before in the conferences and those in charge of the delegation felt especially proud of the record this year. Miss Reardon was placed on one of the most important committees, and at her suggestion Milton Stonnell, of the M. E., South, Sunday school, was made a member of the state council of young people. Mr. Wallace conducted the track meet at Virginia Beach Saturday afternoon, and closed the conference with an address Sunday night.

The conference was the largest ever held in the state, 247 delegates having registered. The people of Norfolk entertained the conference in splendid fashion. The semi-annual meeting of the state council will be held at Charlottesville February 22, 1922. The conference next year will probably be held in the valley and the following year the Alexandria delegation hope to bring it to this city.

CHILE IS WARMING UP TO PROHIBITION IN U. S.

New York, Aug. 30.—Alfredo Avalos, legal adviser to the Ministry of Finance of Chile, arrived today to make a first-hand study of the operation of the Volstead act and to recommend whether such an act might be put into operation in Chile.

He said prohibition would be useful in Antofagasta and certain other provinces where the major portion of the population are workingmen.

A stumbling block to prohibition regulations, he added, is that more than 700,000,000 pesos are invested in the wine industry in that country.

Invitations have been sent to a large number who have taken part in other productions under the John B. Rogers management, but as no complete list exists, some were unintentionally omitted.

It is requested that all who have helped in previous productions, and any others that wish to be assigned parts in "All Aboard," report on that night.

Lynchburg.—The continued drought is depleting the supply of stored water in the Pedlar River Lake about an inch a day now, the level now being nine inches below the spillway. No alarm is felt from this condition because the level was as low as 112 inches several years ago without embarrassing the city water department.

Lynchburg.—The Hill City Council, U. T. C. will hold an all-day trap shoot Labor Day at the Riverside Park traps. Eight events in addition to a special handicap have been arranged for the occasion.

The killing greatly excited the negroes in the vicinity. Thompson will be arraigned for trial at the September term of circuit court.

Richmond.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Richmond Musicians' Protective Association a voluntary cut of 10 per cent. in salaries of musicians was decided upon, effective at once. This reduction in pay was made in accordance to the low prices of other things and will affect all theaters in the city. The executive committee of the association includes T. S. Hiteshew, president pro tem; Moses Stein, secretary pro tem; T. A. Critzer, G. F. Gross, J. N. Kaufman, C. E. Titus, Joe LaFratta and A. L. Wren.

Danville.—Work has started on Danville's "white way," a new illuminating system which is to be put into effect in the business section of the town. Iron standards bearing brackets for incandescent globes are being installed, the same poles to support the street car trolley wires. The improvement represents a cost of $10,000. The local wire companies are cooperating with the city, and some of the overhead cables will be placed in underground conduits.

Norfolk.—Norfolk will be gay with color during the state convention of the American Legion. The city will decorate not only in honor of the legionnaires, but for the Norfolk fair which will open the following Monday. Besides, all the leading civic organizations have got together to make "Norfolk Night," which falls upon Friday, September 2, a memorable occasion. This is the night when Admiral Rodman, Admiral Andrews and all the commanding officers of the various posts and their staffs will be present and the "Battle of the Argonne Forest" will be fought all over again—with fireworks—a gorgeous spectacle.

Norfolk.—To protest against the disrating or rerating of approximately 200 men at the Norfolk Navy Yard, a committee of workers will go to Washington this week and make a direct appeal to Secretary of the Navy Denby. Not satisfied with the statement of Admiral Andrews as printed in a Norfolk paper Saturday, the men asserted they purposed to see Mr. Denby, and, if he would not give them satisfaction, they would appeal directly to President Harding and ask for a board to investigate conditions at the yard.

Richmond.—After having declared intensive warfare against the white wing of the Republican party and having also decided to issue a weekly paper during the campaign local colored Republicans met here Sunday afternoon and completed arrangements for holding a state convention Labor Day. The state committee which has been appointed by the Pollard faction will meet here Saturday to outline the program for the convention.

Danville.—The Pittsylvania executive committee held a meeting at Chatham this morning and decided to hold a county convention there on September 10, at which time dele-

MINERS MOBS REGATHERING

Men Mass To Renew Advance On Mingo County Mines.

400 IN ONE GROUP

Hundreds In Squads Rushing Forward In Response To Second Call To Arms.

Logan, W. Va., Aug. 30.—Miners were gathering over the ridge from Logan this morning. "They seemed restless and uncertain," was the message brought to the general headquarters of the Logan defence by air horse and foot scouts.

Various estimates as the strength of the invaders were made. In several groups 400 were reported. Other gatherings were smaller.

Madison, W. Va., Aug. 30.—Striking miners who last week began a march from Marmet, Kanawha county, to Mingo county, and who were induced to abandon their march at this place and return to their homes, have again left their homes and are moving into Logan county in bands numbering from a dozen to as high as 200 men, County Prosecutor Mullens, of this place, said today.

For the most part, Mullens said, the miners are trickling over the county line into Logan county, into the district into which Sheriff Don Chafin, of Logan county, said: "They shall not pass."

Some are making the "invasion" on foot, Mullens said but the greater number are going into the forbidden territory by automobile or train.

All day Monday and last night as well as late Sunday the striking miners from the coal river region were passing through Madison on their way to Logan county to join forces with the strikers there, Mullens said.

Monday night a train from the Coal river district passed through Madison bearing about 200 armed strikers. The train was loaded to capacity. Some of the miners were riding on the cow catcher of the engine, and every other part of the train that afforded room was occupied by men, according to Mullens, who said he understood the men were heading for Sharples, Logan county, near where a clash between miners and deputies and State police took place Sunday.

AN IMPORTANT INDUSTRY

In the Advertising section of the Gazette there appears an advertisement stating the need of labor at the mills of the Klots Throwing Co. This plant at the present time is employing about 70 people, both boys and girls. The plant offers excellent working conditions and the work is of a very light and clean nature. They offer good wages while the beginner is learning. H. A. Zeigler, superintendent of the mills, states that he can use at least fifty more girls. The employees are now working a fifty hour week.

Work done at this plant is the preparation of the yarn for the weavers. The yarn is received as it was shipped from China and Japan, in skeins, from these skeins the silk is transferred to spools and from these spools to other spools in order to obtain thread of the desired size. The silk is then spun and put on quills ready for the weavers. This industry, while new to Alexandria, has every prospect of becoming one of the most important features of our commercial activity.

Three United Mine Workers Indicted For Murder

Williamson, W. Va., Aug. 29.—Indictments today were returned by a special grand jury in session here against C. F. Kenney and Fred Mooney, president and secretary, respectively, of District 17 United Mine Workers of America, and C. H. Wortman, an international organizer for the miners' union, in connection with the deaths last May of Ambrose Gooslin and Dan Whitt.

The two men were killed during the three days' shooting in Mingo county during the week of May 13. David Robb, an international organizer for the miners, also was indicted as an accessory before the fact in connection with the death of William McMullen, a State trooper, last June. McMullen was shot while on guard duty.

Prosecuting Attorney S. D. Stokes tonight announced that he had sent capiases for the arrest of Kenney and Mooney to the Sheriff of Kanawha county. The men will be called to trial, he said, at the regular term of court September 5.

Bieg's Body Found

Former Alexandrian Lost Life In ZR-2 Crash.

Hull, Aug. 30.—Five more bodies were recovered from the wreckage of the ZR-2 yesterday. They are those of Air Commodore E. M. Maitland, of the British flying force; Mr. Campbell, superintendent of the Royal air works. where the dirigible was built; C. W. Duffield, of the national physical laboratory; Charles I. Aller, an American rigger, and Lieut. Comdr. Valentine N. Bieg, formerly of Alexandria, Va.

Commodore Maitland's body was enmeshed in wires and before it could be freed these wires had to be cut. The body was badly mutilated and his hand was still grasping a control cord. Two American officers, with two other Americans acting as escort, brought Commodore Maitland's body ashore.

The right leg of Mr. Duffield, like that of Lieut. Comdr. Emory Coil, U. S. N., whose body was recovered yesterday was fractured.

The control car of the airship is believed to be among the wreckage brought ashore yesterday.

His tips the first day were $18, including a $5 bill from William Waldorf Astor. Advice from patrons of the restaurant started him operating in the stock market, in which he was credited with having make $1,000,000. Ten children survive him.

At a late hour the guests departed, after a most delightful time.

A bicycle driven by Douglass Duncan, was struck while on King street yesterday afternoon by an automobile driven by Wesley Cox and considerably damaged. In the police court today Mr. Cox agreed to pay $10 to help repair the damaged bicycle which was satisfactory to the owner and the case was dropped.

RIOTS RAGE IN ULSTER

Two Persons Killed and Six Others Wounded In Belfast.

SINN FEIN DELAYS

Dublin Castle Continues Optimistic Over Peace Prospects—Using Pressure On Sinn Fein.

Belfast, Aug. 30.—Rioting, accompanied by shooting and bombing, which broke out at midday yesterday in North Queens street and along the New Lodge road, and was renewed later in the afternoon, brought about the death of two persons—a visitor to the city and a ship yard worker. Six others were wounded.

Armored cars were summoned to patrol the locality when the rioting started. There was a period of calm upon their arrival, but disorder broke out again later, accompanied by wild firing, which made the streets extremely dangerous for pedestrians.

Dublin, Aug. 30.—The Republican ministers were busy today in consultations among themselves and with thir supporters concerning the Irish situation, but it was officially announced at 6 o'clock yesterday evening that no reply to the latest communication of David Lloyde George, the British Premier, would be sent to London last night.

Officials at Dublin Castle and other persons interested in the succss of the peace negotiations seemed unperturbed last night over the delay in replying to Mr. Lloyd George. It was admitted at the castle, which generally has received early news of any decisions the Dail Eireann is to make, that it was not known what the latest reply of Mr. De Valera and his followers would be. Optimism, however, prevailed at the castle, and likewise among a large section of the public.

It is considered probable that the reply drafted by the Cabinet may be altered to some extent on the advice of persons outside the Dail. It has been alleged that Mr. de Valera's previous letter to the Premier was toned down before it was sent to London.

Telephone communication between Dublin and Belfast was impossible last night, as all the wires had been cut. At Dublin Castle, however, it was said that the situation in Belfast at 8 o'clock yesterday evening was well in hand.

The report that Michael Collins, the Sinn Fein Minister of Finance, intends to speak in Armagh next Sunday is considered here as an indication that Sinn Fein intends to carry the battle for a united Ireland into the "enemy's country." It was said last night that if Mr. Collins achieved any success, Eamonn De Valera and Arthur Griffith, who also represent Ulster constituencies in the Northern Parliament, may follow suit. Mr. Collins' move is considered here to be a dangerous one, the belief prevailing that his visit to Ulster may be resented by the Ulsterites and lead to trouble.

News from London yesterday morning said the British Government had decided upon a general election should the Irish Republican Cabinet refuse its offer. Should this occur, although it is not expected here that it will become necessary. Sinn Fein would nominate a candidate in each constituency for the Imperial Parliament under the Home Rule act, and, as these candidates undoubtedly would be elected, could put this forward as really being the result of a plebiscite on the British terms.

The disturbances in British India are being made much of here and the belief is expressed in high Sinn Fein quarters that England will find herself so busy there she will be willing to leave Ireland alone.

London, Aug. 30.—Sinn Fein has been under heavy pressure from the country during the week end in favor of continuing the negotiations. A leader from the west of Ireland, who arrived in London today, said that in his district the people are insistent on settlement and that they did not care a straw about nominal independence if they could control their own taxation. They are perfectly willing to make all military concessions demanded, knowing that even if Ireland were independent England could occupy it militarily in a few hours' notice at any time in case of need.

All Southern Ireland, however, is insistent on the unity of Ireland and is willing to do anything to eliminate Ulster's fears of oppression.

James Craig, the Ulster Premier, is in England, but he is staying at a country house near London. It was suggested by some of his friends yesterday that he is holding himself in readiness to join Mr. Lloyd George in Scotland in case the Sinn Fein consents to a tri-partite conference.

DIES IN RICHMOND

Word has been received in this city of the death in Richmond last night of Marshall M. Gillian. His widow was Miss Emma S. Steward of this city and her many friends here regret to learn of her sad bereavement. The funeral will be held in Richmond tomorrow afternoon.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Washington, Aug. 30.—The Gazette correspondent learned today that in the original draft of the treaty with Germany sent by this government to Berlin there was no mention of Part 7 of the Treaty of Versailles, which provided for the trial of the Kaiser and other war criminals. Part 7 was purposely left out by Secretary of State Hughes in drafting the treaty with Germany because, as it was explained, this was "all water gone over the dam and better forgot." It was said that everyone now knows that the Kaiser is not to be tried and that the other war criminals have already been tried. So that, in writing the treaty omitting this part, the United States lost nothing and Germany gained nothing.

Because there has never been an explanation of this omission from the State Department, many wondered whether Part 7 had been passed by as a protest of the United States to the trial of the Kaiser. It was explained that nothing of the sort was meant.

Bills For Nation's Relief.

Although every possible concession has been made to the so-called agricultural bloc in Congress, Republican leaders in both Houses are still doubtful as to whether this bloc has been sufficiently placated to stand aside for the passage of bills intended to give relief to the business of the nation. The bills that this agricultural bloc is now holding up and threatening to emasculate are the railroad funding bill, the tax revision bill and the tariff bill. This bloc has refused to approve any of these measures in their present form and has asked for time to study the bills. In the meantime, Chairman Penrose of the Finance Committee has left in the hands of a special committee from this agricultural bloc the writing of the agricultural in the tariff bill in the hope that the farming element in the Senate may support whatever tax revision plan is decided upon by the Finance Committee.

Awaits Wood's Report on P. I.

The question of the independence of the Philippines is not to be determined by this administration until after President Harding receives the report on conditions in the islands which Major General Leonard Wood is to make to him. Despite the fact that Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippines Senate has been to the White House several times urging independence for his people, the President has turned a deaf ear to all such entreaties and has let it be known that his attitude respecting Philippine independence will depend largely upon the report and recommendations made by General Wood who is still in the Far East.

To Be Buried In Arlington.

The body of Major William Sinkler Manning one of the heroes of the World War who was killed in action just five days prior to the signing of the armistice, has arrived in New York and will be brought to Washington for interment in the Arlington National Cemetery. Major Manning was one of the best known of Washington correspondents before the war with Germany and was one of five sons of former Governor Manning of South Carolina to enlist in the service of the United States.

Woman Gets Big Job.

At last, the Harding administration has rewarded the women voters who cast their ballots for the Republican candidates last November. The appointment of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, of California, to be Assistant Attorney General has been announced at the White House. Mrs. Willebrandt will succeed Mrs. Annette Adams also from California, who was made an assistant to the Attorney General by President Wilson. In her capacity as Assistant Attorney General, Mrs. Adams was called upon to prepare opinions on various phases pertaining to the enforcement of the Volstead Act and it is expected that her successor will be assigned to the same sort of work.

Will Not Send U. S. Troops To W. Va.

President Harding is not going to send United States troops into the coal fields of West Virginia, where rioting and bloodshed is now rampant unless it becomes absolutely necessary to do so. Despite the fact that he has been importuned by the Governor of the State and other officials for federal troops, the Chief Executive is going to use the armed forces of the country in West Virginia only as a last resort. He is being kept in daily touch with the situation but does not regard it as serious enough for him to interfere.

BABY'S CRIES SAVE FAMILY

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 30.—The cries of their two year old infant, which awakened them early yesterday morning, saved the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kenske, who awoke to find their home at Shellpot Park on fire. Retreat by the stairs cut off by the flames, Kenske crawled out of a window to a roof and helped Mrs. Kenske out and then handed the baby down to neighbors.

CHILDREN'S PLAYGROUND

In our edition of Saturday last appears a communication in regard to the playgrounds established by public-spirited men and women of Alexandria — especially the latter. The same was in response to a previous letter published in our columns in the nature of a criticism as to the management of the grounds. It would seem, after careful enquiry, that the contributor of last Saturday's communication was entirely right in the matter. The unfortunate occurrence in which a child was struck by a hammer was undoubtedly accidental, and it would be difficult to conceive of such an incident being otherwise. Even had there been ground for malice, which there was not, no young man of Alexandria, we are convinced, could have been so heartless and cruel as to wilfully inflict injury upon a mere child, no matter what the provocation.

We have watched the gradual growth of the playground idea in this city, and have already complimented in no uncertain terms the self-sacrificing efforts of those who have labored for years to achieve their object. Now that success has crowned their exertions they should receive the unqualified support and encouragement of the citizens at large. The Gazette is at all times ready to render what aid and assistance it can in the premises.

PANAMA CANAL TOLLS

The much-vexed question of the right of the United States to pass its vessels through the Panama Canal free of toll has been somewhat cleared up by the publication of the letters of the late Walter H. Page, our former ambassador to Great Britain. It seems that President Wilson, desiring a free hand in Mexico, which that country was in nowise inclined to grant, asked Congress to repeal the free tolls law. This, as a measure of compromise. The request was granted and the matter has remained in statu quo, from 1914 until the present time.

As to the deeper rights and obligations involved, there may be another side to the question. We are not sure that the moral right exists to establish free tolls, regardless of the material advantage to this country. Doubtless the matter will be threshed out in Congress when it meets again after the present adjournment.

VOGUE FORETELLS AUTUMN MODE: SKIRTS ARE TO BE LENGTHENED

The Silhouette of 1920 and of 1921

Yes, skirts are to be longer, 'Tis the inevitable law of gravity, what goes up must come down, says Vogue—but the choice of several silhouettes is offered—Flower crowned coiffures, which was a civil war fashion, are to be revived, and long earrings swing from every knowing ear—Belts and girdles, especially in metal, will be very popular.

No. 1, 1920—Last year's very simple black frock, so popular as to become almost a uniform was noticeable for its round, collarless neck, its very brief sleeves, its short round length skirt, and its general air of unpretentiousness.

No. 2, 1921—Madeleine and Madeleine proves the length to which fashion has gone, in a season, in this coat dress of Polish inspiration. The colour is a dull green, with self tone embroidery; the skirt is short in front and long on the sides. Fur is used at the throat and wrists. It is a far cry from the little black rag of six months ago.

There is one clothes question that is at the moment uppermost in the minds of nine women out of ten. "Are skirts really going to be longer?—and if so, how much longer?"

Not in years has a fashion verdict been awaited with so much interest.

The short skirt has been so popular —so comfortable and, to most women, so becoming that quite naturally there is a reluctance to part with it and a horrible vision of trailing lengths that sweep the dust.

But it isn't so bad as all that—in fact, it isn"t bad any way you look at it.

Longer translated, means eight inches off the ground for street clothes—not much chance for dust sweeping there—and two to four inches for the evening.

This change may seem sudden to some women, but like all of fashion's moves today it really is quite gradual, and truth to tell quite logical.

Vogue announced definitely as long ago as September, 1920, that skirts were growing longer, and has reported steadily ever since just how the all powerful French dressmakers were conspiring to accomplish this end with no abrupt shock to their customers.

Every one remembers quite plainly the floating wisps of crepe de chine or chiffon which first became the fashion in the spring of 1920. Little did women know, when they accepted this vagary of fashion, just how much they were letting themselves in for. It is true that they noticed that these wisps hung below the skirt proper, but then it was still a short skirt. Then, somehow, there were more wisps—pretty things, and often they hung down farther than they had at first—but, of course, the skirt proper was short. Then, all at once, panels which hung at either side joined the brigade of wisps— but, of course, as the dressmakers explained quite convincingly you couldn't expect to have wisps of cloth—and since you'd become accustomed to wisps, you just naturally had to have something—so why not panels? As the season advanced, these panels grew more definitely in character, and the eye saw them and lost sight of the once important skirt underneath until, today, last year's straight-line short skirt looks decidedly out of style and the long skirt has very definitely arrived.

Next in importance to skirt lengths, comes the question of silhouettes. Time was when one said "the silhouette"—but those simple days when a single silhouette dominated the season's fashions have passed until today we have almost a half dozen from which to choose, each playing its very definite part in the scheme of things.

First comes the suit, which, due to Parisian enthusiasm, is perhaps more popular than in several seasons. This year, it is made, very likely, of kasha cloth, or broadcloth, called back into favour. Its coat may either be straight and beltless or with a slightly curved waist-line and godets on the side, but flat back and front. Its colour is black combined with grey, very dark red or the new Madeleine blue. Itas skirt is nine inches from the ground.

Vying with it in popularity is the coat-dress, a real feature of the coming season, with its high collar of fur, lowered waist-line, defined by a gleaming steel belt and sometimes embroidered in cut steel beads, its long sleeves its fuller and longer skirts, its deep, rich colour further enrichened by peasant embroidery.

Next comes the afternoon dress, offered in several interesting silhouettess, but best liked, perhaps, in two One is in the real peasant spirit, with its characteristically long, loose, bloused lines, straight wide sleeves, lowered waist-line, a sash loosely knotted about it a full, but straight hanging skirt, uneven of hem, and with touches of embroideries reminiscent of southern Europe adding to its colourful effect. The other is the straight silhouette which retains many of the features of last season's chemise dress, falling straight from the shoulder and simply belted with one of the new metal girdles. This is the most conservative silhouette, but the least new in effect. Because of its generally wearable jualities, it is likely to be the most worn. Then, for evening, comes the Greek silhouette, a lovely thing of grace and charm—ideal for the dinner-table or the theatre. In white or delicate colours and soft patternless fabrics, it is apt to be sleeveless and may be either straight and pleated of faultlessly draped. The Grande Semaine in Paris, that last week of the races which is so smart both as to events and as to the modes which it brings out, proved the power of this Greek gown as its white length trailed through the marvelous riot of colour at the various evening affairs.

In that same week was introduced the silhouette of the Italian Renaissance, its decorative possibilities and unreleived straight lines best exemplified in gleaming brocades of velvets, its style best suited to the evening.

Then, to top it all, as if this were not enough, we have the Spanish silhouette and the general Spanish influence on the mode. This has made necessary something to define the waist-line, something which may be called a corset but is more correctly a girdle.

It, too, is seen at its best in evening things, for there it gains its proper background and has a setting which compliments its delicate bouffant silhouette, a lovely thing of tulle and lace and flowers.

Flowers are one of the high lights of the mode. They will be used not only as girdle and trimmings on our frocks, but they are to be very much featured in our coiffures, a charming custom that was often in fashion during the Civil War, and again, in a lesser degree, when the bustle ruled the mode.

The head-dress is one of the most interesting ideas of the moment. Paris has been wearing it for a couple of seasons, and New York first took it seriously last winter. Its name is legion—it varies from the simplest laurel wreath to a Bachanalian head-dress, a mass of jewels and colour.

Naturally, earrings accompany it frequently, for even if we do not ggo so far as to show our ears, as Paris would have us do, at least we acknowledge them with earrings.

Fans, which have such possibilities of adding coquetry and charm, will be carried everywhere. Odd primitive designs in feathers as well as those of the delicate Louis Sixteenth period, with its fragile charm, vie with the vivid qualities of the Spanish type.

Hats for the evening, absolutely distinctive from the others, were seen at every restaurant in the Bois in Paris late in the summer. Maria Guy was the originator of many of the becoming, large-brimmed, black hats, whose most lovely lines came from the drapery of the lace, heavy and Spanish in pattern, which fell from the brim to the waist-line. For the daytime, small velvet toques, with high trimming in the direct centre, and very swathed turbans, in fuchsia tones of violet and red, are worn most effectively with the ever-present earrings.

Belts are more noticeable than they have been in some seasons. Gleaming metal or gay, coloured belts in the daytime, soft sashes in the afternoon, and everything from flowers to jewels at night.

Sleeves too, demand attention—always long for the street, sometimes narrow, sometimes wide, sometimes a slashed musketeer, thin for afternoon, and sure to be colourful. Sometimes half is of the one fabric, half of another, again, part is embroidered in colour.

Thus we have a season which offers a variety of silhouettes to suit every type and every occasion, and which introduces a longer skirt, but lengthened so subtly, so gracefully, and, withal, in so wide a variety of fashions, that one can but accept the verdict with thanks.

Fabrics That Blossomed for Midsummer Frocks

SILVER-GRAY drifts of voile—soft clouds of dawn-tinted mull—a flutter of cool, clear-toned organdy—the loveliest frocks ever dreamed of are held captive in their billowy lengths, awaiting the magic touch of your needle.

Will you select the jade organdy or the apricot linen—the scarlet voile or the flamingo? It is merely a matter of preference, because you can't resist the fabrics and you don't have to. Our midsummer prices are setting a new standard of moderation. But even more important, a marvelous new invention bids you to choose the fabrics you most desire and it will grant you wonderful economies:

The DELTOR

A picture guide with every new Butterick Pattern that saves you 50c to $10 on every frock you make

First, you buy from ¼ to 1⅜ yards less material than you ever used before because of a wonderfully simple cutting guide worked out in your size, for your pattern, and in every suitable width of fabric. You follow it simply—surely—swiftly—and you have saved 50c to $10 in materials on every frock you make.

Then, according to the Deltor you put your garment together. Your needle follows its simple pictures as it flies in and out; with never a second of hesitation, you attain the perfect fit and drape that you thought could only be the work of a professional modiste of Fifth Avenue or Paris.

And last, the Deltor's finishing touches accomplish a wonderful thing for you. How often have you hoped to make a "creation" instead of just a dress? With Deltor you do just that. It reveals those intimate little touches of finish and adornment of a Parisian modiste—that make your frock stand out in any gathering.

Upon what you eat depends what you are able to accomplish.

Not the quantity of food--but the character and quality of it. If it is composed of the right elements---it nourishes. If is deficient in those properties---it becomes a burden on the system instead of a benefit.

Because this is so, it is immensely important that you select your food critically---especially the Bread you eat.

HAMPDEN--SIDNEY ELEVEN

Prespects For Coming Season Bright At Virginia College.

Farmville, Va., August 20.—Unless football prospects at Hampden-Sidney College take a sudden downward trend, and the unexpected happens, one of the best elevens that has represented that institution in years will disport the Garnet and Gray jerseys this season. Coach Roundy has set September 6, eight days before the opening of school, as the first practice date and practically all of the candidates for the eleven are expected to report at this time. This will give the coach eighteen days in which to perfect his machine before the curtain rises on the season September 24, when Virginia Polytechnic Institute will be the opponents of the Tigers.

Nine letter men will return to college this year and in addition to these nearly thirty players with prep school experience on the gridiron are expected to matriculate. A number of these were stellar performers on their elevens last year and they probably will push some of the members of last year's team hard for a berth.

While the Tiger line is expected to be equally as strong as it was last season, the backfield will be, from present prospects greatly strengthened and one that will be especially versatile in the art of broken field and end running. With Ben Smith, star performer of the team of 1920 and one of the best half backs in Virginia; Bill Day, Smith's running mate at halfback, and Watkins, quarterback, back in harness. Coach Roundy will have a strong nucleus around which to build his offensive.

To supplement these backs he will have Zimmerman, fullback on the Greenbrier Military Academy, W. Va., eleven for two years; Marks, star ground gainer at Courtland High School last season; Tyson, back par excellence of the John Marshall High School team for two seasons; Blankenship, also a halfback at John Marshall, and a number of players on the Hampden-Sidney second team last season.

The line will be built around Sands center on the Tiger football teams for the last three years and captain elect for this season. Unless some of the new candidates are able to oust members of last year's team from their places there are only three positions left open in the first line defense. Neither guard on the team of 1920 will return to college and Britton's failure to return will leave one of the ends open. Coach Roundy will have three letter men, in addition to Sands, in his line. Brenaman, end; Hager, right tackle, and Fuqua left tackle, compose this trio.

Following the game with V. P. I., on September 24, the Tigers will engage Virginia Military Institute and on October 8, Randolph-Macon will meet the Tigers at Petersburg.

Camp Humphreys Notes

The Children's outing held at the Ponton School Grounds Wednesday August 24th, was counted a very successful affair by the one hundred and twenty-five people who attended. The invitation included every child in camp with his parents and guests, also a number of children of the community adjoining the camp who are interested in some of its activities. A sumptuous lunch was served at noon, each family having brought a bountifully filled basket and ice cream was provided for all by the Camp Sunday School.

Mr. Edward Schreiner had prepared an athletic program which began with aquatic events as the tide was right.

The 25 yard swimming race was won by Raul Ortiz; second James Woodruff; third, James Houston. The 15 yard ladies swimming race was won by Miss Carmen Ortiz; second Miss Evelyn Houston; third Miss Providence Ortiz. Junior diving contest won by Julio Ortiz; second Miss Marmen Ortiz; third, Miss Evelyn Houston. The ten yard swimming race was won by Julio Ortiz; second Providence Ortiz; third Raul Ortiz under five yard handicap. Diving contest won by James Woodruff; second, Raul Ortiz; third, James Houston. Distance plunge was won by James Houston; second, Raul Ortiz; third, James Woodruff. On shore the fifty yard dash was won by Miss Doris Carter; second, William Carter; third, Miss Evelyn Houston. The seventy yard dash won by James Houston; second, Miss Mary Prohaska ;third, James Woodruff. The half mile run won by Raul Ortiz; second, James Houston; third, James Woodruff. Broad jump won by R. Ortiz; second, James Houston; third James Woodruff.

The officials were Major C. C. Gee, C. E.; Messrs Schreiner and Bream Patrick; Judges, Major Roscoe C. Crewford, C. E., recorder; Chaplain Perry O. Wilcox, starter. Prizes were awarded the winners at the close of the contests after which light refreshments were served, and the company took its departure.

Among those present was Mrs. H. H. Kuentz, the mother of Major Oscar O. Kuentz, C. EE., who was bidding farewell to her friends, as she is accompanying her son to Rock Island, Ill., where he is to be on duty in the U. S. Engineers Office, after serving continuously at this post for three years. They have formed many very close friendships here.

Major Julian L. Schley, C. E., reported at Camp Humphreys August 23rd, and has been assigned as Director of Military Engineering relieving Major Roscoe Crawford who is assigned as instructor in Military Engineering.

The number of men on sick report continues to be gratifyingly small. In addition to one patient in the station hospital there are but five men at Walter Reed General Hospital from this camp. Of these Captain Daniel Noce, C. E. is recovering nicely from a minor operation and expects to be discharged from the hospital in a few days.

Sergeant Wm. F. Martin, First Sergeant of Company F 13th Engineers who has been a patient in the eye ward at Walter Reed since April 13th, and who was nearly blind when he entered the hospital has practically recovered the sight of his right but has little use of the left. He expects to be separated from the military service with the next few days on a surgeons certificate of disability. He plans to take vocational training under the government plan for disabled men, and will select a course in "forestry" if possible. He is very reluctant to leave the service, and he stands as one of the best men in his regiment in the esteem of his officers.

Private William P. Upchurch of Company D 13th Engineers has also been under treatment for his eyes since about the 17th of March, and he will be discharged from the army in a few days for disability. The other patients at Walter Reed are Private First Class Frank S. Messer of Company C, and Corporal Lewis Koss of Company B 13th Engineers.

A leave of thirty days has been granted 1st Lieutenant Charles B. Skinner. He plans to spend the time with Mrs. Skinner in Northern New York State.

Dull care takes to the brush at the approach of Howe's Great London Circus and Van Amburg's Trained Wild Animals great army of clowns. The undertaker becomes jovial, the chronic dyspeptic releases the frown from his forehead and holds his sides and the sedate judge laughs immoderately.

It is a show in which the comedy element cuts no small figure. Clowns have been gathered from all quarters of the globe, and the result is a well diversified array of droll stunts absolutely new and funnier than ever. Public events are travestied, prominent men are impersonated in grotesque caricature, short plays and screaming pantomimes are enacted and from beginning to the end the great arena rings with laughter.

The Howe-Van Amburg show enjoys the reputation of having the world's best clowns on its list of performers and of being the originators of all great clown stunts. Their standing is high and the most up-to-date mimicry is shown. There is a laugh a minute tucked away between exploits of daring and feats of skill, the great army of jesters filling every pause in the wonderful performance with shouts of laughter. It is the sort of nonsense that the best of men relish and are the better for having laughed at it.

EDITORIAL

The late session of Congress hath at length closed, after passing many laws, for the purpose of raising revenue for carrying on the war, which the nation has been so wantonly and unnecessarily involved in—wantonly because the war has been in every possible manner provoked by our rulers—unnecessarily because one month more of patience, in spite of all the provocatives of our government, would have removed every pretext for such a measure—we should have had peace with Britain and a most prosperous commerce with all the nations of the world except, perhaps, those which were under the government or control of France.

..... The fact is if we mean to be a military nation, we must copy the government of regenerate France—we must adopt in every particular the Napoleon code, political, ecclesiastical, civil and military—the physical and fiscal tone of the nation must be at the disposal of a grand Monarch. God grant this be not the concealed object of our present rulers and the present war but a pretext to introduce a military despotism.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM MR. STONE

Editor "Gazette:"

There has been a great deal of discussion in the past few years relative to some improvement in the management of the county's business affairs. Many ideas have been advanced; some good suggestions have been made, few adopted, much could be added that would give up an organization, whereby all that we desire could be accomplished.

The first and all important factor is, we citizens should have the utmost confidence in the Board of Supervisors, keeping in closer touch with them by giving our entire moral and physical support in their earnest endeavors to perform the duties imposed upon them. Every man and woman in the county should be a booster and an incessant worker to aid those too few who are so faithfully and honestly serving us.

The Board of Supervisors frankly and truthfully inform us that the business of the county had grown to such an extent that they are unable to look after it as it should be. This condition can and should be corrected at once. This can be done by increasing the membership of the Board of Supervisors by the election of two additional members from the county at large, the tenure of office to be two years. The first election should be one for one year and one for two years, giving us one member to be elected at each fall election. This will prevent a deadlock in the Board of Supervisors, which has been the case for the last several years; in fact, since the organization of the county. This will put the people in closer touch with the Board and thus enable them, without trouble, to remove any deadlock that might arise.

The two additional members should be selected from the best material we have, and Arlington County can justly boast of having a superior class of citizens as the additions to the population are made up of thorough going progressive men and women from every State in the Union.

The present arrangement of electing a representative from each District to be continued. The law should make it mandatory that when a vacancy occurs in the Board of Supervisors, or any other elective office, the position shall be filled by the vote of the people at the next regular election.

The Board of Supervisors' duties should be defined in a general bill for the government of Arlington County. The powers vested in the Board should be absolute and the limit beyond which they shall not go distinctly defined. This will remove much friction and enable the Board to perform their duties in a manner that will reflect credit on the whole county.

The Board should, by law, be provided with a clerk, who is thoroughly familiar with office duties, who is able to keep a correct record of the proceedings of the Board, receive all complaints and transmit them for investigation and written report to the different officials of the county, to keep a correct and complete record of all receipts and expenditures of the Board to act intelligently on any matter brought before them. This clerk or secretary should be required to give his entire time to the work.

All expenditures and receipts should be kept in itemized form and published each month. The proceedings of the Board should be given the widest publicity possible in the county newspapers after each session of the Board.

This matter should be taken under consideration at once and some definite action taken that our representative will be thoroughly informed as to the needs of the people. No new schemes nor additional expenditure of the peoples money is necessary. At present there seems to be too much waste somewhere and publicity is the great "cure-all" for the malady of extravagance.

(Signed) FRANK T. STONE.

PREDICT SEVERE WINTER

Medford, N. J., Aug. 30.—"Corn husk" weather prophets of Burlington county are out with predictions of the most severe winter in twenty years. They base their proggnostication on the unusual thickness of the corn husks at this harvest. Natives say the corn husk has not failed them in a half century as a weather guide.

WHEAT CROP HEAVY IN WEST CANADA

Prince Albert, Sask., Aug. 30.—According to the latest estimates, the wheat harvest in this district will be the best in six years and will probably surpass that of 1915, which was a record breaker.

About 75 per cent of the crop has been harvested, and indications point to a continuance of the ideal harvest weather of the past ten days.

CONVINCING PROOF
That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Extraordinary Curative Power in Cases of Woman's Ailments

Columbus, O.—"I suffered very much pain during my monthly periods and felt weak and all run down. I tried many remedies and the doctor said I would have to have an operation. Then before my baby was born I had terrible pains in my sides. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me wonderfully. I have had two children since I began taking your medicine and did all of my own work including washing while carrying them. I can also recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. You may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish." —Mrs. THOMAS L. CHRISTY, 704 West Mound St., Columbus, Ohio.

Such a condition as Mrs. Christy was in points directly to a deranged condition of a woman's system, and by following her example taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, women may be relieved from such ailments and be restored to normal health and strength just as she was.

If there is anything about your condition you do not understand write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., in regard to your health.

Scenes On Howe's Great London Circus Lot.

They came to town today—the elephants, the clowns, the jungle folk and the be-spangled people, for Howe's Great London circus steamed into the city on three trains shortly after dawn, and when Alexandria sat down to its morning cantaloupe and coffee, the great, grey tents loomed against the skyline at the North Alfred street grounds, while 700 circus people and 500 animals began to furbish and be-plume for the street parade.

And the parade was worth while—really worth while. From the first band wagon to the last lumbering elephant; from the first ornate cage to the last clown cart, from buglers to hooting, tooting calliopes, the Howe's Great London parade was gorgeous, novel and good to look upon. It was surprisingly lengthy, and the splendid wild animals and handsome horses scored decidedly with Alexandrians—horse and animal lovers first, last and always.

The Howe's Great London performances, beginning with impressive pageantry at the North Alfred street grounds at 2 and 8 p. m., feature Louis Roth's wild animal acts—Polar bears, Royal Bengal tigers, lions, leopards, pumas, jaguars zebras, dromedares and about everything zoological; riding acts, starring Rose Wallett, Winnie Sweeney and John Wallett; high school and jumping acts, headlining Etta Correon, Hazel Hickey, Clara Smith, Nellie Roth, Frank Miller, Charles Barry and many others; aerial acts, with the Earls, the Geers, the Howards, the Abbeys, the Rowe's and many other well known mid-air fliers; acrobatic gymnastic, equilibristic, wire dancing and novelty acts, with little Paulina Knight, the tiny "Pavlowa of the aerial steel thread" as the radiant star of the displays. The circus is smartly presented in three rings, a steel wild animal arena and a hippodrome track. Forty clowns, headed by Kenneth Waite, Chester Sherman, Abe Goldstein, Eddie Limoges, George Kelly and Al Gaston, amuse the youngsters and those of us who like to be young on circus day.

MY GRANDMOTHER'S TABLE

My grandmother's table, supported by the fields and the garden and the archard, was a quaint picture, with its old-fashioned delft and glass and the big japanned tray, behind which my grandmother sat to serve the tea or the coffee. There was a tall tea pot, on which two deer with spreading antlers were runinng away from two horsemen, who were not particularly interested in the chase, as one of them carried a toy spear with a pennant attached, and the other was riding in the opposite direction. It is only fair to state that this teapot appeared on the table only on special occasions, and otherwise stood in a corner cupboard behind glass. The service plates and platters on ordinary occasions were white with a wavy rim of blue, known to colectors as the mulberry pattern. On state occasions the platters and the vegetable dishes and the large dinner plates showed an architectural and aquatic design, in which picturesque castles crowned rocky islands, with fantastic boats in the forground—boats with striped awnings propelled by a poleman, or with lateen sails or banks of oars. These dishes were in light blue, the borders of an intricate floral design. There were glass salt boats, which rolled over at the ends like the arms of a sofa, and could never have been suspected of having escaped from the fleet of boats on the blue platters.

There were curious cake plates decorated by hand, with a pot of conventional flowers in the centre, and bordered by a wreath of equally impossible floral designs under thick glaze, th reds and yellows and blues fused into pleasant flat poster shades. There were no decanters or wine glasses, because wines and liquors for table use were unknown, and if cider was served it was drunk in ordinary tumblers.

And now we come to the great festival of the year, which was a real New England Thanksgiving dinner, as my grandmother interpreted and celebrated it, with a never varying menu of pie and pie and more pie. Chicken pie and mince pie and pumpinkin pie, with a few deviations such as vegetables and pickled peaches and cheese and nuts and coffee. The chicken pie was a creation of the day before, ready for the brick oven, which was blazing with dry wood in the early morning, and kept burning until the absorbed and imprisoned heat was sufficient for the crucial effort. Then the coals and ashes were raked off and the big pie in an unusual milk pan, reserved from year to year for that service, was placed in the mouth of the oven and shoved back with the broad oven shovel to the centre of the brick floor, and the sheet iron door was closed. The last affectionate touch of my grandmother, before the pie disappeared in the oven, was to make a number of incisions in the soft crust, as convenient pockets for lumps of yellow butter, an excess of hospitality whose effect was to make the said crust a little more clay-ing to the tender stomachs of her grandchildren.

The mince pie, prepared with boiled cider and stuffed with citron and raisins, had been waiting for a month in the cold cupboard of the unused parlor, and when it was warmed for dinner the rich crust flaked off like flashes of isinglass.

The November days were cold, and the forenoon was long before the 2 o'clock dinner and the children's wati was aggravated by the tantalizing odors that escaped from the door of the oven. The elders were in the parlor, some of the studious ones turning over the leaves of a bound volume of the New York Manror for the year 1835, or reading Josephus, while the others were grouped in front of a Frankhn stove bricked into the fireplace and blaz-

JAPAN AND HER ISLANDS

North of the equator things are for the most part as they were. That is to say, America, is still in possession of the great Asiatic group of the Phillippines, waiting, like England, in India, for the day when she may leave it to its own people. Can she ever do so? The United States possesss, as before, a string of stepping stones to the East—Hawaii, Guam, the Philippine. But she is now irrvocably an Asiatic power. The menace to her social structure in the Pacific States compels her, whether she likes or not, to keep her sword in the side of Asia and Manila. Even if the Filipinos were ready for her departure she must stay, for until the quarrel with the East is decided she can best defend herslf, as England always did, on the coasts of her enemy.

Yet another difficulty arises from the Treaty of Versailles. Germany was never the enemy of the United States. But today Germany's possessions at Caroline, Marshall, Pelew, and Marianne, encircling Guam, are in the hand of Japan. The League of Nations does not grant sovereignty, nor does it permit the mandatory power to fortify. But it cannot forbid the people intrusted with a mandate from flooding the territory with its own nationals—its administrators, engineers, artisans and laborers. Obviously Japan alone of the mandatory powers is able to do this, for only the Japanese can labor in such conditions. Today we are told that the Japanization of the islands north of the equator is proceding actively; that Japanese goods are being dumped everywhere and the Japense tongue is being promoted, as French and German were else where, by compelling its use in the mission schools. The Japanese can fill their own flesh and blood the vacancies left by the disappearing populations of the Pacific; we never can. Thus irresistibly the frontiers of Japan, which yesterday were safe in Asia, have been pushed forward three or four thousand miles across the Pacific toward Australia and New Zealand.—September Scribner's.

DODSON KILLING USE OF CALOMEL
Says Drug is Mercury and Acts Like Dynamite on Your Liver

Dodson is making a hard fight against calomel in the South. Every druggist has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason, Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist. A large bottle costs but a few cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in very case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or onstipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or ccause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor an dambition.

CARRIED TO DEATH IN NIAGARA FALLS

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Edward H. Rippon, of Buffalo, was swept over the Bridal Veil fall at Niagara yesterday afternoon and dashed to death on rocks below. The body was recovered.

Rippon's skull was fractured when he fell head first on the big rocks at the base of the falls. The body then passed out 20 feet and became wedged between teh rocks in Small Rapids, near the Cave of the Winds.

E. R. Waldenergen, reservation superintendent, and Harold Wright, made a bridge of planks between two big rocks, crawled out on the planking, secured and rescued the body with ropes and drew it slowly back to solid ground. It was a hazardous feat with the waters of the cataract thundering about the rescuers.

Hundreds of tourists watched from the upper shores as the men struggled to recover the body.

A note left by Rippon told of a will he had made disposing of his property. It gave no hint as to the motive for suicide except that it proclaimed the writer's innocence of something of which he evidently believed he had been accused in connection with his work in the railway mail service. Officials of this service said last night that they had heard of no charges against Rippon. He had been ill for two weeks, they said.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline has remarkable pulling Power

GASOLINE that delivers full power and maximum mileage is not the product of chance but of the choice of crude stocks, skillful refining and constant research.

Gasoline properties are determined by a large number of factors. It is only by the closest study that the exceptional pulling power of the improved "Standard" Motor Gasoline is obtained. Our Development Department not only devotes a large share of its work to refining processes, but is also constantly checking up the actual performance of "Standard" Motor Gasoline in various types of motors, in the laboratory and out on the road.

The power obtainable from gasoline depends largely on its burning properties, on how much of it fires and how much fails to ignite, thus lowering the explosive force of the whole mixture. The composition of "Standard" Motor Gasoline is positively predetermined with a view to insuring its complete combustion at motor temperatures.

Thousands of critical motorists have given this "Standard" Motor Gasoline a thorough test under all sorts of conditions. They say that it supplies an unusually even, smooth flow of power, and gives exceptional mileage.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline is on sale wherever you see the familiar "S.O." sign. It is the cheapest gasoline per mile you can find.
